This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

IT having been long a subject of regret, that Liverpool, which has risen so high in opulence and population, should be destitute of a Public Library, containing the great works of learning and science, a proposal was made towards the end of the year 1797, for supplying this deficiency. In this scheme a public news-room, of a superior kind, was combined with a library; both were to be included under one roof; to be the property of the subscribers; and the two parts were to be indissolubly connected. This proposal was favourably received, and after several modifications, was finally adopted, at a public meeting, on the 19*th of January,* 1798. It was then fixed, that the number of subscribers should be three hundred and fifty, each to pay ten guineas as a capital, and two guineas as an annual subscription; and a committee being appointed to carry the scheme into effect, they adopted, after full consideration, a plan proposed by Mr. Foster, under whose direction the building was erected, in an advantageous situation, with uncommon celerity, and with general approbation.

The coffee-room was opened on the first of January, 1799; the library-room on the first of July following.—The first occupies the ground floor, and extends to [redacted] square feet— 2, 02
The second, of a narrower base, but of a greater elevation, lies over the first, and is lighted from above. The whole was executed for 4000l. and the Institution received the title of ATHENÆUM.

Six months experience having convinced the proprietors that they might, without inconvenience, make an addition to their number, and many respectable characters being desirous of admission, it was resolved, on the first of July, 1799, to open the list for seventy-five new subscribers, at twenty guineas each; and this number was completed in forty-eight hours. At the end of another year, it having been found that a still farther addition might be made, it was agreed to receive seventy-five more subscribers at thirty guineas each; and this number was completed in twenty-four hours. The subscription list being closed, the shares have since risen to thirty-five and forty guineas, and the public impulse excited on this occasion, has been successfully directed to other undertakings of a similar nature.

The scale of expense for the building, and for the conduct of the ATHENÆUM, having been adapted to three hundred and fifty subscribers only—the rooms when completed having been found perfectly adequate to the accommodation of five hundred—and the additional one hundred and fifty having offered at such advanced subscriptions—three hundred guineas annually have been added to the income, and nearly 4000l. to the capital of the Institution, beyond what was originally contemplated. By these means the Committee have been enabled to give every convenience, and even elegance to the rooms, and to carry the purchase of books already to an extent, which according to their original plan, could only have been effected in a long series of years.

In the present state of their proceedings, they have thought it advisable to publish a catalogue of the books already purchased.

chased. Some part of the capital sum applicable to the library yet remains in their hands, and the income destined to its future support and encrease, may, on the most moderate calculation, be rated at four hundred guineas annually. By enabling the proprietors to see distinctly what has been done, they will discover more easily what is still wanting. The committee wish also to state their objects, and the progress they have made, to the friends of the Institution at a distance, and to profit by the liberal observations of men of SCIENCE and LEARNING. For greater convenience the catalogue is printed on paper that will bear the pen, and interstices are left for the insertion of works that may be recommended, at the end of each division.

It is unnecessary to say that the Institution is yet in its childhood. The library has been open two years only, yet it will be allowed to contain already a valuable collection of books. Not one of the classes in our catalogue, however, approaches to completion, and some of them are scarcely begun. But if the future progress of the ATHENÆUM shall correspond with its commencement, the library will advance in a few years to a high degree of usefulness and respectability.

The prosperity of the ATHENÆUM, unparalleled we believe in the history of similar institutions, has been chiefly derived from the general union of public sentiment in its favour, and the remarkable unanimity with which its affairs have been conducted. May these continue—May the happy omens which have attended its infancy be accomplished in its progress! Its friends have nothing better to hope or to wish.

LAWS AND REGULATIONS

IN

CONCLUDED UPON AT A GENERAL MEETING

OF THE SUBSCRIBERS,

ON THE SECOND OF NOVEMBER,

THE persons whose names are hereunto subscribed, having agreed to associate together in establishing a LIBRARY AND NEWS-ROOM in LIVERPOOL, in a building suitable for that purpose, and called the ATHENÆUM; and having contributed TEN GUINEAS each towards the erection of such building, and agreed further to contribute the sum of TWO GUINEAS each annually (the first payment of such annual subscription having commenced the first of July, 1798) for the support and carrying on of such institution; DO

HEREBY

HEREBY assent and agree to the following RULES and REGULATIONS, as declaratory of their intentions in the establishment of THIS INSTITUTION, and as the TRUSTS AND PURPOSES upon which the property shall be settled and conveyed.

I. The land and buildings shall be invested in TEN TRUSTEES, to be named by the subscribers at large, who shall stand possessed thereof for the purposes in these rules and regulations contained; and as often as the number shall be reduced to three, by death, or resignation, or by residing upwards of ten miles from Liverpool, the surviving trustees shall convey over to as many more new trustees, to be named as aforesaid, as with such surviving trustees shall make up ten in number; and so from time to time as often as occasion may require.—The following gentlemen are appointed TRUSTEES for this purpose, viz.

George Case,	John Rutter, M. D.
William Roscoe,	William Lawson,
Pudsey Dawson,	James Currie, M. D.
Thomas John Parke,	William Clarke,
Rev. S. Renshaw, M. A.	Samuel Staniforth.

II. All proprietors having subscribed their names to these regulations, shall have an equal right and power in this institution; and any subscriber scriber may transfer the whole, but not any part, of his right and interest in the institution, according to the form to be prescribed in the deed of trust, to any person who will assent to and subscribe these laws.

III. The first annual subscription having become due on the first day of July, 1798, the subsequent payments shall be made on the first day of July in each successive year; and if any subscriber neglect to pay his subscription for a longer period than three months after the same may become due, having been reminded by the proper officer, he shall be deprived of the use of the Library and News-Room until the same be discharged; and if he neglect to pay up his arrears for two years, due notice having been given him thereof, he shall forfeit his share and interest in the institution.

IV. An annual meeting of the subscribers shall be held on the first Tuesday in July, of which seven days notice at least shall be given in the Liverpool news-papers, and a notice sent to each subscriber. At this meeting all new laws shall be made for the government of the institution; nor shall any motion be made for the repeal of an established law at any other meeting. All questions that may come before this meeting shall be be determined by a majority of the subscribers present. But no alteration shall be made in the number of proprietors, in the amount of the annual subscription, or in the appropriation of the same to the different objects of the institution, without the consent of three-fourths of the subscribers present, after fourteen days public notice in the Liverpool news-papers, previous to the annual meeting, of such intended alteration: And no subscriber shall vote by proxy on any question, nor be entitled to more than one vote, whatever number of shares he may hold.

V. The income shall be appropriated as follows, viz. After the necessary expenses of the institution are paid, a sum, not exceeding one third of the neat income, shall be laid out in the purchase of News-papers, Reviews, Magazines, Pamphlets, and other periodical works; of the then remainder of the annual income, a part, not exceeding one third of such remainder, may be applied to the purchase of books in the foreign or learned languages; and the balance shall be expended in purchasing books in our own language.

VI. The institution shall be under the direction of a Committee of twenty-one members, chosen from the subscribers at large; any seven of whom may act. Seven of the number shall go out out by lot on the first day of July, 1799, and seven new committee-men be appointed at the annual meeting of the subscribers. At the end of the second year, seven of the fourteen former members shall go out in like manner, and seven new committee-men be chosen. And afterwards the remaining seven of the committee shall go out by rotation, after having served three years, and seven new committee-men shall be annually appointed; but no subscriber, who has served this office, shall be eligible again for one year to come.

VII. The Committee shall meet at the committee-room on the first Tuesday after the annual meeting, when they shall elect from amongst themselves a President, Vice-President, Treasurer, and Secretary: and their future meetings shall be held on the first Tuesday of every succeeding month, to transact the business of the institution.

VIII. If any subscriber, who may have been appointed a member of the Committee, should refuse to serve this office, he must signify his dissent before the second meeting of the Committee; in which case the committee shall elect another subscriber in his place: And if any Committee-Man should die, or remove to a greater distance from Liverpool than eight miles, or, being in town, should absent himself from the Committee three several meetings successively, without alledging an excuse which may appear satisfactory, his place shall be supplied by another subscriber, to be chosen by the Committee.

Committee

IX. If any case should arise, not provided for by the laws in being, the Committee may make an order, which shall continue, and have the force of a law, until the next annual meeting, when it shall be brought forwards, and either be confirmed or rejected.

X. The Committee shall determine, from time to time, what books, maps, pamphlets, news-papers and periodical works, shall be admitted into the Library and News-Room; their decisions being regulated by the law for the appropriation of the annual income; but every subscriber may propose any book that he may think proper, by entering its title in a book to be always kept in the Library for that purpose.

XI. The President may appoint an extraordinary meeting of the Committee whenever he may think it necessary: And the President, Vice-President and Treasurer, together with four of the Committee, shall have the power of calling an extraordinary general meeting of the subscribers, whenever the interests of the institution may seem to them to require it.

XII.

XII. All the money arising from admissions, subscriptions, forfeitures, or benefactions of persons willing to encourage this institution, shall be paid into the hands of the Treasurer, whose accounts shall be audited by the President and Vice-President; or in their absence, by any two members of the Committee, to be appointed by them, a few days previous to the annual meeting; when he shall be required to lay before the subscribers a regular account of the state of the institution to that time.

XIII. The President and Committee shall fix what books shall be permitted to circulate, the time to be allowed for reading them, and the forfeitures for their detention beyond the period allotted: and they shall also have the power of imposing suitable fines on all who may damage or deface the books, provided that such fines never exceed the value of the books so damaged.

XIV. Duplicates shall be provided of all such books as may be allowed to circulate amongst the subscribers, one of which duplicates shall remain constantly in the Library; in order that any subscriber may be certain at all times of finding any book which he may have occasion to read or refer to.

XV. All books which may be presented or bequeathed to the Library, shall be deposited there for the use of the Subscribers, and shall not be allowed to be taken out on any account.

XVI. No inhabitant of Liverpool or its vicinity, who is not a proprietor of a share in the building and property, shall be allowed to have access to the News-Room or Library; but every subscriber shall have the liberty of introducing with him into the Library or News-Room, any stranger or strangers, not residing within eight miles of Liverpool, who may have the use of the books and papers: but such strangers shall not, in consequence thereof, have the privilege of returning again, without the personal introduction of the same, or of some other subscriber.

At the Annual Meeting of the proprietors held July 2d, 1799, this law was enlarged as follows:

In addition to the privilege possessed at present by the subscribers, of introducing strangers into the Library and News-Room, every subscriber shall have the power of introducing one stranger, to have free access to the Library and News-Room for the whole of the day on which he is introduced, provided that he enter his own name, and that that of the stranger in a book, to be kept for that purpose.

XVII. The room adjoining the Library shall be fitted up for the reception of such specimens in Natural History as may be presented to the institution: but no part of the annual subscription shall be expended in the purchase of such articles.

XVIII. The News-Room and Library shall be open every day, from seven o'clock in the morning till ten at night, except at such times as the Committee shall think it necessary to shut them for the purpose of cleaning them.

XIX. All pamphlets shall be laid upon the table of the News-Room for the perusal of the subscribers: nor shall any pamphlet be removed from the News-Room till after the expiration of six month from the time of its admission, when it shall be bound, together also with such newspapers as the Committee may determine to have bound, and placed in the Library. No review or magazine shall be removed from the News-Room, until a volume is compleated, when they shall be bound, and placed in the Library: and no book, pamphlet, review, magazine, or newspaper, shall be taken off the premises.

XX. If any book be lost, the subscriber to whom whom the same was last delivered, shall immediately replace it with a new one of the same edition, or pay as much to the Librarian as will replace the same; and if the book lost be a part of a set, he shall take the remaining volumes, and purchase or pay for a new set for the Library; and if he refuses to submit to these penalties, he shall forfeit his property in the institution.

XXI. The Librarian, and such servants as may be found necessary, shall be appointed by, and be under the direction of the Committee, and be removable at their discretion: the Committee shall also regulate their salaries or wages.

XXII. The Committee shall have a discretionary power to grant permission to any person or persons, not residing within eight miles of Liverpool, who may have made the institution a valuable present, to attend the News-Room and Library at all times during his or their occasional visits in town.

XXIII. Any subscriber who may be prevented by indisposition from visiting the News-Room, may have at his own house the use of any of those daily papers of which there are duplicates, the day after such papers have been received, provided that that he send to the master of the room a written obligation to return it the same day.

XXIV. The worshipful the Mayor, for the time being, shall be considered as an honorary member of this institution, and the privilege allowed to each member of admitting a single stranger to the rooms, by inscribing his name in the book kept for that purpose, shall in his instance be unlimited in favour of such strangers as may be introduced to his notice.

XXV. No person shall have any right, interest, or property whatever in this institution, who does not submit to these laws and regulations, and to such other laws and regulations as may be made by the subscribers at large, in such manner as is herein before mentioned.
